STREET TRAFFIC.

It is generally admitted that Buenos Ayres is the greatest tramway city in the whole world. We have tramway cars crossing and re-crossing almost every street in the city, with a rapidity and a frequency that suggest to many newly-arrived friends from Europe or the States the remarkable absence of tramway accidents in this town. So accustomed are we all to tramway riding and its admitted safety, that many parents allow their little children to go to school unattended by a servant, and merely in charge of the mayoral of the tram car in which they travel.

A melancholy accident, however, occurred last week, in broad daylight, in one of our most public thoroughfares, within half a square of Plaza Victoria, which has resulted so fatally that our sense of security in tramway riding is rudely disturbed. Although it is hard to say on whose shoulders the responsibility or blame should rest, public opinion will unanimously censure the Municipal "reglamento" that allows our streets to be so unnecessarily thronged with carts that tramway passengers' lives are imperilled, and their legs liable to be smashed to pieces by the shaft of a cart whilst the unfortunate passenger is, perhaps, incautiously reading a newspaper.

Mr. Amelong, the victim in the present case, was sitting in the front seat of an open tram-car; thousands and hundreds of thousands of passengers had sat in the same seat and ridden in that car, and in the very street, in front of Mr. Cramwell's Apothecary's Hall, without the slightest mishap. Mr. Amelong himself in former years had been a tramway guard, and therefore accustomed to collisions with carts, etc. But, with all our tramway experience, this is the first accident of the kind that has occurred in this city, and the dreadful lesson should not be lost sight of by the Municipality and police, since the excessive traffic in Calle Rivadavia, owing to the want of proper police or Municipal rules, is the proximate cause of this truly appalling accident.

Mr. Amelong's leg was crushed by the shaft of a cart; the same evening it was amputated at the German Hospital, and the same day the unfortunate man died.

If some proper steps are not immediately taken to relieve Calle Rivadavia of a portion of its unnecessary traffic, Mr. Amelong's fate may be our own or that of any of our Flores readers to-morrow.

The traffic in Calle Rivadavia is, owing to the laxity of our Municipal street regulations, fully ten times more than it need be under proper rules. Every cart in Buenos Ayres bound to the Plaza Once Setiembre, the Western Railway Station, Flores, Caballito, or Almagro, goes down Calle Rivadavia, notwithstanding that there are numerous parallel and well-paved streets that would suit the carts, etc., just as well as Calle Rivadavia. No wonder, under such a free-and-easy system, the streets should get so hermetically jammed up in the middle of a busy day that carts, tram-cars, tilburies, dog carts, bread carts, and even bullock carts block up the way; and if to the present we have so miraculously escaped accidents, it is, we hold, due more to the cool intelligence and instinct of the horses than anything else. As for the drivers, they are as a class the most unrelenting and most merciless set of men to be found in the whole city. These cartmen, as a rule, will drive over anything or any one that comes in their way. They take a certain side of the street, and from that side nothing will eject them. A tram-car comes up, they collide with the tram sooner than get out of the way, and drive the shaft of their cart under the tram-car seat, and crush the passenger's leg with the same nonchalance that they light a paper cigar.

If the police stopped every cart entering Calle Rivadavia and allowed none to pass up save those that had cargo to deliver at some house or store in that street, then, of course, there would be room for everything in Calle Rivadavia; but the negligence of the Municipality in this regard is most reprehensible. Every cart in town is allowed up and down Rivadavia. No wonder, therefore, at the squeeze. The wonder is that we have had so few accidents of the kind in the street.

At the first meeting of the Municipality this matter is to be brought before the Board which, it is to be hoped, will at last take some steps to reform so scandalous a Municipal abuse.

GOVERNOR WINTER'S REPORT.

The following extracts, with reference to colonization and foundation of three colonies, are taken from the yet unpublished Report of Colonel Winter, present Governor of Patagonia.

This report speaks for itself, and shows at a glance with how much zeal and intelligence this much esteemed Governor has guarded the interests with which he has been intrusted.

We believe that the Government coincides with his view with regard to its future advancement, and we have no doubt that Congress in the next session will also endorse them, and by so doing help to open new fountains of wealth for the nation, which will at the same time populate these vast tracts of land that are at present deserts, and convert them into smiling agricultural and pastoral colonies. The following are the extracts:—

Colonization—Being acquainted with the views of the Nat. Government, with the object of establishing agricultural colonies at certain points on both sides of the Rio Negro, I have devoted all my attention to this subject, and studied the question very minutely, with the object always in view of establishing them at points which will cost the nation little outlay, and which will at the same time be suitable to the colonists who may come to populate them.

The valley of the Rio Negro possesses three great advantages for the future success in the foundation of agricultural colonies: They are first, the fertility of the soil, second, the facility of transport both by land and water, and thirdly, the salubrious and mild climate, being exactly the same as that from where most of the immigrants arriving on our shores come I believe that the foundation of small agricultural colonies on the sites that I have already marked in my correspondence of the 4th of Sept. last would be the most adaptable ones and the surest way of spreading a uniform population through the northern districts of Patagonia.

The districts referred to in the above correspondence, and known as the Potrero Cerrado,, Rincon de Linares, and Conesa, the plans of which and of the adjoining lands will be found at the foot of my report, are, amongst others, in my opinion those that should be immediately settled on, dividing them first, in conformity with the Colonization Law, into 'solares,' quintas, and chacras, to be proportionately distributed amongst the settlers, as the law dictates.

By establishing some 25 or 30 agricultural families in each of the above districts, and granting to each one a plot in conformity with the conditions which the Colonization Law establishes, would be for the present a sufficient number to form three very fair centres of population, which would be further augmented by the native families that are at present living here, subsisting principally by grazing a few head of cattle, for want of a piece of ground belonging to themselves that they could cultivate.

Potrero Cerrado—In the 2nd Section, and comprised between the estancia lots numbered 5 and 6, measured by the Government surveyor Dn. Telemaco Gonzalez, is situated the district denominated Potrero Cerrado, lying on the left bank of the Rio Negro, and 30 kilometers above Viedma, the seat of the Government of these territories.

Very few sites such as this exist in the valley so eminently suited for the establishing of an agricultural colony. Watered in front by the Rio Negro on which it lies, it runs back to a distance of not less than 9 kilometers, and is composed of a fertile soil, very easily irrigated, and where wheat and barley thrive splendidly, both being in great demand here. Maize and all kinds of vegetables grow equally well. On the bank of the river the 'sauce' and poplar trees grow in abundance, are of a good quality, and indispensable for rustic constructions, corrals, etc. The walnut and other classes of fruit trees suited to a temparate zone reach great perfection. The vine flourishes amongst the 'cuchillas' which bound the valleys, and hard grass, very good for feeding oxen, grows most abundantly in them. Fine wood, such as 'piquiqui,' 'chañar,' 'algarrobo,' and various classes of shrubs can be found everywhere.

There are four different ways for communication with Viedma, three land roads called, the 'Costa,' the 'Medio,' and the 'Cuchilla,' the last being only used during the innundations of the river, and the fourth by the river, which is always navigable. Sixteen kilometers from Potrero Cerrado is situated Cubanea, where there has been established for the past 21 years a great number of Italian agricultural families, but without forming a town, most of whom are to-day in very fair circumstances. The land that was then granted to them is to-day insufficient to sustain the children (to-day men) of these first settlers, and they are very anxious that the Government gratuitously concede the site it proposes for a colony, the 100 hectares assigned by the Colonization Law, to all settlers on it, to immediately settle there, and with their utensils, seeds, oxen, farming instruments, etc, to at once begin work.

This embryonic settlement, which will be about 15 families, and to which could be conveniently added 15 more recently arrived from Europe, would be sufficient to form at this point a fair centre of population, which would in a few years change it into an important agricultural district.

Rincon de Linares—In the 4th Section and comprised in the estancia lots 3, 4, 5 and 6, measured by the before-mentioned surveyor Sr Gonzalez, and whose plans have been laid before the Nat. Government for approbation, is situated on the site, known as Rincon de Linares, lying on the right bank of the Rio Negro and some kilometers from Viedma.

This district, owing to the homogeneity of the soil, all of it being adaptable for wheat growing, due to its good situation and natural irrigation as also to its height above the level of the river, which always guarantees it against floods, is in my opinion, another place very much suited to locate an agricultural colony in, which in short time would be the centre of a rich region, as it is exactly at this point that the good camps both in the valley and on the "cuchillas", for agriculture as well as for grazing, commence.

The extension of valley in this part varies between 5 and 8 kilometres, and this is a necessary point for the transport that is carried on between this town and the cattle and agricultural districts that extend without interruption up the river as far as Castre (70 kilometres.)

There is not a single obstacle to be surmounted for the progress of the Colony that is to be established here: easy communication with all the centres of population, a mild and salubrious climate, at its feet a majestic river, whose pure waters are unequalled, an abundant and productive soil, trees, 'montes' on all sides, hard and soft grasses, are some of the chief characteristics to aid the cattle-grazier, or agriculturist in his onward march.

Conesa.—Is situated on the right bank of the Rio Negro, which is perfectly navigable up to this point, no matter what time of the year; it abounds with magnificent tillage land, possesses splendid pasturages, with timber and fire-wood in abundance; its communication is easy, and it is distant from Viedma 150 kilometres. It was here, in 1879, that this colony was founded by the Government with the remnants of the Indians of the extinguished tribe of Catriel. It did very fairly till 1882 when it was broken up, owing to its stipend $726, being eliminated from the Budget, and on which the Indians subsisted.

The above established colony could not give the results expected in its two first years. During the first year there was an awful flood which submerged nearly all the lands of the valley, and they remained so for several months, precisely at the time when ploughing and the sowing of the crops should have taken place consequently no crops were sown. In the second year of its creation, it was attacked by small pox, of so contagious and malignant a character, that its population became decimated.

Without knowing the causes, when I entered office, on the 3rd year of its foundation, I found it broken up; and I imagined that the reason was owing to most of the young and vigorous Indians, and consequently those who did most of the agricultural labours, being made to serve in the "Escuadron Indios Auxiliares del Rio Negro" that was then formed. But having no official order for its dissolution I resolved to reorganise it on a new basis, distributing to the 50 men that then composed it, the working elements that still remained, according to the aptitude and necessity of each one.

Consequently, some were set to work to plough the soil, and sow the maize, and other cereals, the only thing that at that time of the year could be sown; others were employed in cutting and burning bricks with the object of erecting good houses in place of the huts and toldos they had lived in up to that time, and the remainder were occupied in planing timber for roofs, doorposts, doors and windows. The Indians and their families (these latter besides household work also laboured in the fields) were thus employed at these labours, when a telegram was received here from Y. E., communicating to this Government that the stipend of $726 decreed on March 4th for the maintenance of the Indians and colonists' families of Conesa, had been eliminated from the Budget for the current year.

With such a resolution, all works were immediately abandoned by the colonists, and those that in the months of August to December, and under the vigilance and direction of the "encargados" of this Government had ploughed in that colony more than 100 hectares of tillage land in which were sown 25 fanegas of maize, alfalfa, and a great quantity of vegetable seeds, brought and transported there, on bills that this stipend was supposed to pay for.

There were at this time cut 1,000,000 bricks, 0.34 in length, 0.22 wide, with 0.8 centimeters in depth. These were not yet burnt, but some was to be finished, not by means of "hornos de campaña" but by permanent ones with the object of teaching the Indians how to do it. There were also 600 posts cut by the Indians and brought from the Islands by means of rafts.

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent.)

April 6th.

Amongst the many inconveniences of our Federal form of Governments, in which we find, not a confederation of fellow-citizens, as in the United States and Switzerland, but antagonistic and rival potentates, is that of the immunity of frontiers. The governor, or rather chief, of every province, is as jealous of the integrity of his territory as our neighbours, the Chilenos, are of their "sagrado suelo." The police officer, in pursuit of a criminal, is stopped at the sacred and often imaginary line by his forced respect for the "sagrado suelo" of the neighbouring province, and he is obliged to return and apply for ("exhortos" and all other necessary documents to present to the authorities of the foreign nation, before he is allowed to follow the trail of the delinquent, who, by that time, is pretty certain to have placed himself in safety.

The "arroyo" of Tortugas divides the two provinces of Santa Fe and Cordoba in a considerable extension from the Cañada de San Antonio to the river Carcarañá. At one time the whole of this "arroyo" was lined on either side with malefactors. The Santa Fe rogues seeking safety on the Cordoba side, and vice versa. Many a time has a party of police chased an assassin or a cattle-stealer up to the very banks of the insignificant little river and been obliged to pull up, like the imps who raced after Tam O'Shanter—while within a stone's throw the exhausted felon throws himself from his horse to the ground, grinning a defiance to his baffled pursuers. This state of things became intolerable, and the three adjoining provinces of Buenos Aires, Cordoba and Santa Fe, severally accredited Plenipotentiaries to each others' courts, and after a few months' of diplomatic sparring, a Treaty has been signed that will make it rather hot for the criminals. The police of each of the above high contracting Powers is allowed to cross the "frontiers," at any point, in pursuit of an evildoer, and they are not only not molested, but are at once to be assisted by the police of the neighbouring province without any formal requisition being required.

When the National Bank decided on the measure of refusing to take advantage of a curso forzoso, and issued redeemable notes, in view of its limited capital, and, we may add, its limited credit, it was prudent to make each branch responsible only for its own emission, otherwise they would each of them have been liable to sudden drains of specie, which none of them were in a position to sustain. The inconvenience, however, to the public was very great, and it was a principal reason of the unpopularity of the bank. The notes are all of the same type, and the emission of each branch is only distinguished from another by a stamped name of the town on the back, which soon becomes partly defaced by use, and it requires the greatest caution in receiving the "notes of this bank," for the discount on notes of other branches is outrageous. I saw a man changing a ten dollar note that had no other mark than the name of the Mendoza manager in minute characters on the back, and he had to submit to a shave of 10 per cent.

There is now no reason for a system so contrary to the very nature of a National Bank, and yet it is continued. One of the results is, that the note of the Provincial Bank of Buenos Aires is becoming much more popular than those of its great rival. The curso forzoso note is preferred not only here in Rosario but in the Interior, for there is no necessity of scrutinising each note, as in the case of the National Bank notes, for fear of taking one of the many branches outside of Rosario. It is time for the Bank, that calls itself a National institution, to emit a really National Bank note, redeemable indiscriminately in all their offices, or otherwise I predict that the Provincial Bank of Buenos Aires will take the wind out of their sails, and become more popular in all parts of the Republic. Even now, when any traveller leaves Rosario, he eschews National Bank notes, and fills his pockets with your Provincial notes, which are as good as gold everywhere, whereas the latter change their value on crossing the frontier of a province. It is a great mistake, Mr. Pacheco,

The shameful neglect of the port of Rosario by the National authorities is simply astounding. For years and years they have sacrificed the dearest interests of this city to men of straw, to whom was foolishly given the concession, and who have thrown dust into the eyes of the Government with false promises and impudent pretexts for four years, while they were vainly endeavouring to sell their concession at a profit. Some months ago there was a sensational paragraph in the papers about a company having been formed in Paris with all the necessary capital. This statement is, no doubt, a mystification, like all former ones, to gain time, as were the wretched tooty works they commenced here a few days before the term of their concession expired. I had hoped that the news published in the papers, that this ridiculous concession was at last rescinded, was true; but it seems that the Government has again allowed itself to be mystified.

I despair in making the Government comprehend the absolute necessity of the work in question in reference to which there appears to be a complete apathy; but I will here jot down some actual facts to show how miserably our commercial wants and necessities are attended to in a port whose Customhouse gives three millions of dollars per annum to the National treasury.

For ocean-going vessels, the only means of discharging is either by lighters or at the Mole of the Central Argentine, which is only large enough for one vessel. At the present time the Camden is unloading 600 tons there. After her the German steamer Watergens has the Mole to discharge 500 tons of railway material. This, of course, will occupy several days. In the meantime, the Lamport and Holt steamer Liscard has just arrived with 1,300 tons, 1,000 of which is to be unloaded at the Railway Mole, and the Lamport is due to-morrow with 1,860 tons, about a third of which has to be dischargod at the Mole. The agent has no idea how long these vessels will be detained, particularly as there is also a great scarcity of lighters.

Next week there will be six ocean-going steamers in port, and loading and discharging facilities only sufficient for two. Just fancy the loss and delay (every day of delay is a loss to some one) occasioned by this state of things.

Then, again, there are not peons enough in the Custom-House to receive cargo, entailing another delay.

The Liscard, when she manages to unload, takes in 200 tons of linseed here and will then proceed to San Lorenzo to load 1,200 tons of wheat from Kirk's Wharf, for Havre. The English barque San Lorenzo, has loaded 1,000 tons for Falmouth, at the same place.

I hear that one of the steamers in port has been offered two charters—one to load wheat at Port Gomez, a little above San Lorenzo, and another to load timber up the river.

CONTINENTAL SOCIALISM.

STARTLING DISCLOSURES.

The Socialist agitation in Andalusia has assumed a very serious aspect. The arrest of the Chief of the Jerez Anarchists has led to the discovery of a Society styled the "Band of the Black Hand." It comprised forty-nine thousand nine hundred and ten Socialists of all ranks, from peasants and operatives to shopkeepers, farmers, and small landowners. The organisation was divided into one hundred and ninety district federations, and eight hundred local sections. In many villages and small towns almost every householder was a Socialist.

In the investigation they have made the Judges have discovered that the supreme inspiration and instructions, with a code of organisation and rules, had come from an Anarchist named Ceter, in Geneva, and the correspondence which has been seized confirms the confession of the ringleaders, that the Society was in active communication with the International and other revolutionary groups abroad, and in the principal towns of Spain. Letters, threatening Judges, have been received from Madrid, Barcelona, and other places, to which accomplices have been traced. The documents and proclamations seized are headed with the words, "Association of Working Men, Section of Agriculture;" or 'Section of the Labourers,' and so on. One document congratulates the leaders on the fact that the Spanish Federation was the largest and best organised by the International in Europe.

The trial of the accused will be delayed by the discovery of the widespread character of the Secret Societies. The Magistrates as well as police are embarrassed by the number of prisoners and the revelations leading daily to further arrests in places far apart. The prisons at Jerez, Arcos, and Cadiz are so crowded that the authorities have decided to send minor offenders to Sevilla.

Telegrams from the seat of the agitation describe the population as much excited by the daily sight of the arrival of large detachments of prisoners, brought in, mostly from rural districts, by gendarmes and cavalry escorts. In the gaols of Jerez alone there are three hundred and eighty prisoners, and in those of Arcos two hundred and fifty.

In the Congress to-day the Minister of the Interior admitted that the state of Andalusia was exceedingly serious, but was not yet, he said, such as to justify extraordinary measures like a state of siege or the law against brigandage, as recommended by the Deputies from Andalusia, who in their interpellation described their province as having been infested with Socialism, agrarian outrages, and murder for nearly two years past. The Minister said the local authorities were armed with full powers; and that the military with gendarmes were sufficient to deal with the still frequent acts of brigandage and with the agrarian crimes.

The Madrid papers state that the Minister of Justice will go down to examine the condition of the turbulent districts, and the Captain General of Andalusia has expressed the opinion that more energetic measures should be adopted, and that more forces are necessary. Three battalions of infantry and a force of cavalry are expected in Jerez and Arcos. Mounted patrols will be organised to stop the barbarous custom of burning and cutting vines just when the plants are budding, the latest outrage of a secret society, which caused much destruction of valuable property, the vines being a source of prosperity in Andalusia. The acts of incendiarism, and the raids committed on farms show the rage of the Socialists at their discovery, and it is very difficult to obtain information or approvers among the terrorised peasantry, who are deeply implicated in these doings.

The accounts in the Madrid Press excite much curiosity and sensation. The Imparcial believes that the state of siege must be proclaimed in the presence of such widspread agitation, but I must repeat that it is a purely Anarchist movement, and not connected with any political school.

To-night arrests have been made in Madrid, Barcelona, and other towns, in consequence of the information given by several Anarchist agitators. Arms and dynamite have also been seized to day in Andalusia. The suspects arrested to-day belong to the middle class.

The Secret Societies are reported to have prepared a general strike of the peasantry, to take place at the opening of the spring season, which begins early in Andalusia. This would aggravate the situation by endangering the crops. The terror of the landlords and the insolence of the agricultural labourers are increasing.

The General commanding in Andalusia has gone to Jerez to hold an inquiry into the cases of the various individuals arrested at Alcazar de San Juan, in La Mancha, on the charge of complicity in the attempt to assassinate and rob the steward of the Marques Perales.

The Congress of Deputies has to-day rejected by 126 votes to 45, the Motion of the Republicans for a Parliamentary inquiry into the Anarchical agitation in Andalusia. In the course of the debate, Señor Moret, in the name of the followers of Marshal Serrano, declared that he would vote for the Motion because he believed that the state of affairs in that province was due to a succession of bad Governments in Spain. Señor Guyon, Minister of the Interior, said that the Socialistic and Anarchical tendencies in the Andalusian Provinces were of ancient date, and that the affair had been submitted to the tribunals. He added that a Parliamentary inquiry was unnecessary.

MR VANSITTART'S REPORT.

ADMINISTRATIVE, FINANCIAL, ETC.

In accordance with the provisions of its fundamental Code, which was framed in the month of November 1870, the existing form of Government in Paraguay is that of a Republic (in Spanish, "Unitaria Democratico Representativa.)

The administrative authority of the nation is of a threefold nature, and consists of the legislative, the executive, and the judicial powers; the seat of Government being Asuncion, which is recognized as the capital of the Republic.

There are two Houses of Legislature, viz., the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate. The members constituting the former are elected directly by the people, in the proportion of one Deputy for every 6,000 inhabitants, whilst the Senators are chosen in the ratio of one for every 12,000 inhabitants.

Were these numerical proportions, however, strictly adhered to, many districts in Paraguay would remain unrepresented, by reason of their slender population, and, in order to obviate this difficulty, as regards the less densely inhabited portions of the Republic, it has been arranged that such of its territorial divisions as contain a population of not less than 8,000 persons shall be empowered to return one Senator, and such as contain 6,000 inhabitants one Deputy, respectively, to the national Legislature.

The Executive functions of the Government are exercised by a President, who is, in case of need, replaced by the Vice-President, the latter being, at the same time, President of the Senate. Both the President and the Vice-President hold office for four years, and are re-eligible after the lapse of eight years, subsequent to their previous tenure of office.

A High Court of Justice, consisting of three members, and various inferior Tribunals, form the Judiciary.

The local magistrature in Paraguay is composed of "Gefes Politicos" and "Jueces de Paz" (Justices of the Peace).

It may be mentioned here that the Presidents of the Republic receive a yearly salary of 9,600 dollars (£1,920); the Vice-President 4,800 dollars (£960). All the different Ministers of Government, such as for Foreign Affairs, Finance, Justice, etc. receive a yearly salary of 3,000 dollars (£600). These salaries have been increased recently, for in 1880 the Budget only allowed £1,200 a year to the President and £600 to the Vice-President. The Government Ministers received only £360 a year.

Estimates for Year 1883.

The Budget, presented in July last for the year 1883, gives an estimated expenditure of 352,963 dollars 60 c. (about £70,592 14s. 5d.), and is distributed as follows—

	Dols. c.
Ministry of Interior	143,627 60
Do. for Foreign Affairs	3,760 00
Do. of Finance	58,148 00
Do. of Justice, Education and Public Worship	63,684 00
Eo. of War and Marine	78,744 00
	352,963 60

I have been unable to obtain the estimated revenue for 1883, but I append the receipts, in full, for last year 1881, as given by the Minister of Finance in his Report—

	Dols. c.
Export dues	84,027 03
Import dues	342,913 39
Hoisting	12,581 94
Registering	1,798 00
Warehouse and transhipment dues	357 94
	441,678 30

This sum, which in English money represents £88,335 13s. 6d., does not include the Post-office and Telegraph Returns, the additional duties, nor the trifling amount raised by stamps and patents. These failing items would raise the whole revenue for 1881 to a little over £100,000.

It may be of interest to quote the revenue and expenditure for previous years as referred to by Mr West in his Report on Paraguay, drawn up in 1875, and since which date nothiug further has been written officially on the country. Mr West says—

"The revenue in 1873 was as follows—

	Dollars
Customs	64,457
Stamps	2,685
Post Office	297
Patents	3,351
Public Lands	2,807
Miscellaneous	3,465
	77,112

"The expenditure was—

	Dollars
Civil List	2,165
Congress	14,196
Interior	16,638
Foreign Office	4,302
War and Marine	62,821
Finance	9,435
Justice	11,637
Extraordinaries	22,192
	183,486

"From these figures, it results that the expenditure was nearly double the amount of revenue. The Report, however, of the Finance Minister, shows signs of amelioration.

"In 1870, the revenue was only £20,000; in 1871 it rose to £36,000, and in 1872 it rose to £53,000.

"And there is an increase of £24,000 in 1873."

LATEST FROM CHUPAT.

Mr. Editor,

The promoters of the Welsh emigration to Patagonia have had to contend with difficulties from the commencement, of which the public in Buenos Aires have only a very imperfect idea. The very conception of such a colony was scouted at home by many wiseacres of the press, and was pooh-poohed as chimerical, and akin to the "South Sea Bubble." The courage and perseverance the colonists have shown in carrying out the idea is appreciated by a few in Buenos Aires, who have paid attention to their unyielding exertions; but it ought to be remembered also that a long war has been waged at home to promote the interests of the colony, by fighting its battles in the press and by public meetings, as well as to defray a great portion of its expenses, for which there has been yet hardly any returns.

At first it was maintained by our opponents that the Indians would be the destruction of the colony. The colonists soon found the Indians to be most serviceable to them, at first to supply them with meat, when food was scarce. The Indians also taught them to hunt, and supplied them with rugs and 'ponchos' when clothing was scarce. These rugs and 'ponchos' are now used as carpets, and in many instances as bedclothes in many houses in the colony. It is true that the Indians have pilfered occasionally, and the colonists watch them when they pay their visits. It is also true that these Indians, with certain modifications, are trusted by the colonists. Whatever the officers of different colonies in South America think of the Indians, I must say that there is amongst the Chupat colonists much sympathy with the Indians, and they think that they ought to be managed with kindness, as well as justice and not exterminated from a country where they have a claim that is prior to the claims of everybody else. Every fair means ought to be employed to make them good Argentine citizens, and it would be base ingratitude in the Welsh people of the Chubut, if they did not acknowledge the service the Indians have rendered to establish and do render the trade of the colony every year.

We are taunted also at home with the continually unsettled state of South American Republics, and we are frequently told that more is to be feared from the restlessness of the Spaniards than from the Indians. The peace that has prevailed in the Argentine territory lately seems to indicate that Argentines are wise enough to understand that peace and prosperity are inseparably connected. War and poverty also are convertible terms.

Since the establishment of the Chupat Colony there has been fighting on Argentine soil, and this is employed here always by American and British emigration agents to estrange emigration from the Argentine Republic.

With such Republican institutions as the Argentines have, all good citizens ought to be satisfied, if these institutions are faithfully and justly conducted; and there is no greater enemy to the State than the restless revolutionist.

We are also frequently told that South American Republics are really no republics, and that they are ruled by cliques and autocratic officials.

Let it be remembered also that three hundred and twenty acres of land are offered free at Dakota, United States, if certain conditions appointed by Government are complied with, such as building a house and planting ten acres with trees. Certain Australian Governments also give free passage to emigrants.

With those facts before them, the public of Buenos Ayres may see at once how difficult it is to foment emigration to Patagonia. The imprisonment of Messrs. Lewis Jones and Berwyn will damage emigration to the Chubut Colony. It will be difficult to convince the people at home that the above-named gentlemen deserved imprisonment; and it will be easy to make the public believe that without a change, the Chubut Colony will be blasted by the tyranny of officials. If it had not been for Mr. Lewis Jones, the colony would not have existed. He has worked hard for its interests, and in consequence of his efforts his health is damaged.

A small batch of emigrants had engaged to go to the Valley of the Rio Nego, and were to leave Liverpool on 24th March. When the news of the aforesaid imprisonment is made known by the Press, some, if not all of those emigrants may turn back. Others were to go by the same steamer to the Valley of the Chubut.

Though the accounts of the harvest are most encouraging, the mismanagement of the Colony is damaging. The Valley of the Chubut can be farmed only by men who are willing to work hard with the pickaxe, spade and plough.

The leaders of the men that have converted a howling wilderness into a habitable valley are thrust into a prison because they have not been sufficiently lawyerlike in their opposition to a young Argentine official that desired in his census to make returns of Welsh babies as persons that cannot read and write!

Allow me to thank the Editor of the Standard for his unflinching friendship to the Chupat Colony. We intended to make another start in the Valley of the Rio Negro, if properly encouraged by Government. No better citizens can be had than Welsh emigrants, and none more loyal to Government and order; but surely a Republican Government cannot mean the autocrat government of officials, but a government by the people.

I am also greatly obliged to Dean Dillon for the kindness he has shown to the Colony.

With sentiments of great respect,

Believe me,

Yours truly,

Michael D. Jones.

Bala, March 3, 1883.

EDITOR'S TABLE

Yesterday was another dull day in the way of obtaining "general-reader" kind of news. There was nothing from Europe, and the talk on 'Change was all about General Mitre's real object in going to Chile, and the big Mining Company started for Rioja. Once mining gets a fair start in this country, it will beat California. By the way, we saw in some paper the other day that the bottom has fallen out of the Big Bonanza mine there, and the income of our distinguished countryman, Mr. Five-Pounds-eight-shillings-a-Minute Mackey is reduced to about ten shillings a minute; but he has an awful 'pot' of money saved.

The races at Palermo to-day will draw a big crowd, if the weather prove fine. The card is good, and promises sport.

We received yesterday for the Starving Children in Ireland 200$m/c., from a clerk in an Argentine Bank, a most generous donation, as clerks' salaries are not a bit too high. We thank him in the name of the famishing little ones.

The monstrous and ridiculous police regulations of Buenos Aires are directly responsible to God and man for the fatal termination of the tramway accident in Calle Rivadavia on Thursday. The unfortunate victim, Mr. Amelow, died in the German Hospital on Thursday, the day of the accident, half an hour after his crushed leg was amputated. The doctors say his life would have been saved but for the long hour he was kept in Cranwell's 'botica,' waiting for some absurd Police formalities to be gone through, although there were half a dozen surgeons within reach to perform the operation on the spot. But, no; the police stood over the dying man, and would allow none to touch him till some functionary came and looked at him! That hour was fatal, as, during its course the inflammation spread so rapidly that, when the victim reached the German Hospital the surgeons had to cut the leg far above the knee, instead of below it, as might here been easily done at the first moment. The loss of blood during that fatal hour was such that the patient only survived the operation half an hour. It makes the blood curdle to think that a widow and three children are now in misery and woe from the dilatoriness of a police official in carrying out regulations that are as absurd as they are inhuman. Mr. Amelow, thus prematurely cut off, was a young man of 35 years; he had once been a guard on the very tramway line on which he met his tragic death, and was subsequently a station-master on the Great Southern Railway. This terrible affair calls aloud for instant modification of the Police regulations in cases of personal accident, grave or slight, and the public look to the Minister of the Interior and the Chief of Police to have a change made at once. It is almost incredible that, in a great city like this, the police regulations are so idiotic that a dying man can not be succoured till some subordinate police officer who, ten thousand to one, will not be found at his post at the moment, is hunted up. It is disgraceful, worse than disgraceful—criminal!

Our opposite neighbor "The Oxford" has a most enticing advertisement in another column about under-clothing of all kinds, at wonderfully cheap rates.

Mr. Nicholas Lowe will leave for Europe on Wednesday next, in the Lamport and Holt steamer Pleiades. We wish him a pleasant trip to his native land.

We see in the columns of a colleague that some estancieros now make their "puesteros" pay rent in advance. This is certainly a new departure in a wrong direction.

An American subscriber sent us yesterday an extract from an American paper in reference to the probability of Robert T. Lincoln, Minister of War, being nominated as a candidate for the Presidency, next term. We hold it for our next issue.

Some of our colleagues appear astonished at people suffering from small-pox being allowed in the tramway cars My dear Sirs, the thing is unpleasantly common, and in the hackney coaches still more common.

They had an uncommonly brisk shock of earthquake in Panama on the night of March 7th, and all the terrified inhabitants passed the night in the Plaza, saying their prayers.

Most of our Argentine colleagues, notably the Libertad, seem much tickled with the torpedo news we gave the other day, and reproduce it. The Torpedo may be the naval weapon of the future, but we don't believe it. Some of the maritime Powers of Europe evidently think that the Torpedo will some day enable them to checkmate the Mistress of the Seas on her own element; but they are most woefully mistaken: She can use it as well, or perhaps a trifle better, than they can.

There is tremendous Coffee news from the East. The Phylloxera, or its first cousin, has got into the coffee plants in Ceylon and Java, and those planters who don't happen to be bald are tearing their hair in desperation. We suppose there will be a rise in coffee, but, as we never take it, we don't care a T.

Judge Arrotea has just decided that the holder of a stolen or mislaid Lottery ticket who purchases it in good faith is entitled to whatever prize it wins.

Steam velocipedes, with the engine under the seat, are now coming into use in England. In case of an explosion?

An Italian named Mongiardino flung his wife out of the window the other day, in a fit of passion, in Calle Europa, and then bolted. The poor woman had one leg and two ribs smashed.

The Health Board met on Friday, but did nothing. Some say the confab. was about Quarantine, others about Fees. We don't know, but will lay odds on the latter.

The St. Cloud Fete, which winds up to-day, is another great attraction for those who do not like racing. The Fete has been the most successful ever given by the French community, and, no doubt, this last will be the most brilliant day of all.

What next in the way of electricity? A London paper says:—"The arrangements for decorating all the young ladies at the Savoy Theatre by electricity are now complete. Theatrical London has been invited to an afternoon performance on Thursday, when all the fairies in 'Iolanthe' will wear incandescent lamps in their hair for the first time. A light tea is to be served at five o'clock to the visitors, and there is the promise of a sober but merry time."

A conference, on the proposed Banco Credito Industrial, will be held to-morrow night at 355 Victoria, the speakers to be Mr. A Silveira and Dr. M. E. Sagui. It will be most interesting. Admission Free.

"What is your age?" asked a friend of Mme. de C. the other evening. "Thirty-one," promptly replied the fair Sapphira. "Oh, where do you expect to go when you die?" gasps another lady, "I am thirty-four, and you told me last winter, with your own lips, that you were just my age, my love." "I know I did, dearest, but it was only to console you."

"I'm in love with your figure," the young man sighed:

"You cipher me, then," the young lady replied.

"Let's add both our fortunes, and then divide."

And then they were married, and multiplied.

A TERRIFIC CALCULATION.

ON 'CHANGE.

April 7th, 1883

Patacon	25.00
Cedulas A	100½
Cedulas E	85½
National Bank Shares	105½
Old Gas Shares	1,500 m/c.

The event of the day on 'Change was the tumble in Cedulas Series E. Prices dropped so fast yesterday afternoon that they opened this morning cash at 85, and for end of month at 85½. Soon the market, however, steadied as one or two English brokers bought cash and this gave a better tone, but the sales for the end of the month ran over ½ of a million, and at one time this morning they thought the stock was on the eve of a fresh break down, but prices touched bottom for the day at 85. The cause of all this run down in the Cedula market is the sale of a large lot of 200,000 by order of one of the banks and then the large sales by parties who bought for a rise expecting that ere this a telegram would come from London announcing that Dr. Llambi Campbell had concluded the financial arrangement proposed for the complete amortization of Series A. As yet that telegram has not come, and now according to London advices they are shipping gold to New York, which makes many think that for the present the business is impossible.
National Bank Shares were completely neglected to-day; some bears spread a rumour that fresh application will be made to the Board to pay up the calls on the subscribed shares, but this is a mere trick of speculators to put the market down. The Directors will accept no such offer, and it is useless to present same, since the question has been already decided. The total business in Bank Shares at the ring only amounted to 300 shares, which shows how little doing in the stock.
One small sale of Old Gas Shares effected at $1,500%, which is far below yesterday's price. Some more shares offering, but $1,550 asked.
In exchange circles the news was that the Provincial Bank, of Rosario, bills on Morton Rose & Co. were offering both here and in Rosario, and so far only a very small amount passed. Of course, it is absurd to suppose that £600,000 stg. in exchange can be passed in Rosario, even in this market the bills could not be passed for a single packet. The bills, however, must be done, and although the brokers said that none were passed, we believe some were sold this afternoon for the Orenoque. Exchange on England was done at 49½ by the Provincial Bank and 49¾ in open market. On Paris, direct, something done at 5.18 and 19, and on Antwerp at 5.22. Sovereigns and special gold several lots bought and as high as 3 o/o premium paid.
The National Bank has not as yet begun to draw, but the bills already hang over the market; nevertheless exchange to-day did not advance.
The sales at the ring were as follows:—
Cedulas—
For cash A 41,100 at 100½-¾
For cash E 69,500 at 85-½-½-½
For April 30th E 255,000 at 85½-½-½-½
For May 31st E 40,000 at 85½-86
Sales, 405,600
National Bank Shares—
For April 30th 100 at 105½
For May 31st 200 at 106½-½
Sales, 300
Primitive Gas Shares—
For cash 40 at $1,500%
At after hours the market ruled duller than ever. Shares were sold at 105 for end of month, and Cedulas sold at 85½ for end of month, closing buyers at this rate. The Cedula market seems to have touched bottom as the heavy sellers of last week are buying back.
About 2,000 salted hides offering of this Province. Nothing as yet sold.
Shipbrokers report freights firm. Small vessel in demand for salted hides and tallow: to load in river vessels light draught wanted for Santa Fe for wheat, 40 frs. paid. Vessels for mani in demand. Crop ready in May: 70 frs. offered. They are writing down from Rosario asking for vessels from here.
Thirty-one shares of the new Bolsa sold this afternoon at par. The Gas Shares sold to-day were sold with dividend, but the seller, it seems, did not know they were at higher quotation; more shares are offering, 1,550 asked.
Respecting the English steamer brought into San Blas Harbour by the gunboat Constitucion, we learn from parties who arrived in Villarino that she is still leaking, that the Oscar and another vessel belonging to Bertorelli have been sent round to her, and the Captain thinks when they get half the cargo out of her they can repair the leak. She is not much damaged, and will soon get away.
The payments on the Bolsa were heavy to-day; all the tables crowded, and millions paid away for produce and exchange.
A coal cargo from Glasgow, to arrive, sold to-day at reserved price.
There were three cheers for Mr. Oldham when it was announced that the cable is repaired and messages coming through. The telegram from Montevideo will be found below. The only novelty is 30,000 arrobes wool sold at reserved price. 1,500 matadero salt hides at 67.
They were all talking on 'Change to-day about the Railway scheme to Trenquelauquen. A most important measure.
The Nacional has again fallen into another dreadful blunder; referring to news from our columns. We said that another lot of 200,000 Cedulas was about to be sold. They were sold to-day and the market fell. We know nothing of emission, and leave all such news to our sleepy contemporary.
Messrs. Green & Johnson have effected the following charters:—
Italian barque Mariana Ferro to load tallow in Paysandu for the Mediterranean at 8s.35 in full.
Italian barque Alma Barabino to load wheat in Rosario and this port at 8s.27 in full for Channel f.o.
German brig Hinrich to load salted hides in the Uruguay for Channel f.o. at 35s & 5 o/o.
British barkentine Merlin to load in Paysandu salted hides for Channel f.o. at 35s and 5 o/o.
The steamer Europa takes:—
500 bales wool
9,500 hides
30 tons maize
2,000 horns
150 tons various.
The sales at afterhours were:—
National Bank Shares—
For April 30th 500 at 105, seller at 105½ and buyer at 105.
Cedulas—
For cash E seller at 85-½, buyer at 85½

The London and River Plate Bank, Limited, Buenos Aires.

This Company having purchased all the property, rights, patents, privileges and concessions in the Argentine, Uruguay and Paraguay Republics, formerly the property of the Companies known as the "Pantelephone," and the "Bell Perfeccionado," is prepared to sell or lease telephones or telephone lines or use in any part of the Argentine Republic, the Banda Oriental or Paraguay. It possesses exclusive rights for all of these countries for the Bell and Blake Telephones, known throughout the Plate as the Bell Perfeccionado,

The only instrument used in the United States

And by the United Telephone Company of England and by nearly all the principal Telephone Exchanges of the world.

The company is now receiving the largest shipments, it is believed, of telephone material ever obtained at one time by any Company existing, including 650 complete sets of telephone instruments, 1000 miles of wire, 40 miles of cable conductor, and switch board and Central Office appliances all of latest and best manufacture.

The Company is not subsidiary to any other, and is under no obligation to purchase its supplies from any particular source.

It proposes to furnish the public of Buenos Aires with the best telephonic instruments obtainable, and the best service practicable.

Thus far, in consequence of the lack of Bell instruments, only four hundred of its nearly one thousand subscribers have been supplied.

The Pan Instruments in use by the remainder will now as rapidly as possible be replaced by the Bell and a better service than any heretofore known in Buenos Aires will be the result.

Any information desired will be most cheerfully afforded on application in person, or by letter at the Company's offices 26 and 28 Calle San Martin.

El area de campo arriba indicado compuesto de 7 leguas y 88 cuadras, situada en la Provincia de Cordoba en el Rio Cuarto, pedania de Teyna y Peñas, campo de primer orden, sin medano, ni sierra, cubierto de pastos con una poblacion, existiendo alli un rodeo de vacas que sirvira para mostrar la calidad de la hacienda, nacidas en esos mismos campos, un pozo con abundante agua, por las fuertes verientes que tiene.

Esta campo queda en el angulo que forman los ferro-carriles Central Argentino y Andino, y dista de las estaciones Chañares de la primera linea y Velez Sarsfield de la segunda, lindando por el Norte con los deshechos del Rio 3° por el Sud con Don Pablo Rodriguez, por el Este con Jose Ferreira, y por el Oeste con los Sres. Creemos escusado demostrar las ventajas que ofrece un campo en estas condiciones y que puede comprarse por un precio tan bajo como el que se ha fijado para la venta que son dos mil quinientos ps. fuertes la legua cuadrada.
